DON'T DRINK BEFORE THE OPERATION

My dog had been sick, very sick... One day we took her to the vet, and unfortunately the doctor said she would have to be put to sleep.

“Bring her back tomorrow and I’ll finish the job. Let’s say around 9:00pm.”

The next day, in tears, I brought her back. We went into the room where my beloved dog would be put to death, only the doctor wasn’t there. So I sat down on the examining table and waited, and waited. Soon, before I knew it, I had dozed off and the dog had wandered away. The doctor, who had had a few too many dirty martinis, finally arrived. By this time I was in a deep sleep. The doctor who couldn’t even see straight seemed to mistake me for the dog. He took out the poison and...

ONE TOO MANY

I was so excited, we were going on a class trip. The trip started off just fine. The key word here is “started.” Half way there, I started to smell the faintest scent of whiskey. All of a sudden the bus driver passed out! I noticed an open bottle of whiskey, half drunken by his seat. All was doomed. Suddenly, to our rescue, our teacher jumped up and took the wheel. Little did we know, he had shared some of that whiskey...

READ THE STREET SIGNS

For my twentieth birthday, my loving parents had just bought me a beautiful new hot red car. I decided to take it out for a spin. I was excited, and not being too careful. I guess I should have paid more attention to that sign that read “CAUTION: Falling Rock Zone.”

HOLE

I was just out of college and had purchased an old house, that would need a lot of repair. There was a hole in the roof and some loose boards. I knew with a ladder I would have easy access to fix the hole. I climbed up with my tools, all ready to finish the job. Unfortunately, the hole was a little bigger than I suspected, the boards a little too loose. Whoever buys the house next will have to fix two holes.

LUCK CHANGES

In one week, all I had was great luck. On Sunday, my wife had our first son. On Monday, I won $14 million dollars from my one lottery ticket and bought a new car. On Tuesday, I was promoted to the vice-president of my law firm and got a huge bonus. Wednesday, I bought a summer house in Hawaii. On Thursday, the stock I had bought went up 80%. Friday was the day I made reservations at the top resort in Jamaica for my wife’s birthday. Saturday was the day that the earth opened up and swallowed me whole.

IF YOUR NOT SURE WHICH WAS TO GO, GO BACK THE WAY YOU CAME

One day, a man was walking in the woods. All of the sudden he came to a fork in the road. There were two signs. One said, “THIS way, Lions, Tigers, and Bears!” Oh my! The other sign said, “Pot of Gold, This Way!” Unfortunately they had both fallen on the ground and he didn’t know which way was which. He should have gone left...

NOT DEEP ENOUGH

A man dove 13 feet into a pool. The pool was only 12 feet deep.
